Create a Podcast With GarageBand 3

Create your first broadcast program

Start A New Podcast
- Open GarageBand from the dock.
- Click New Podcast Episode.

Save Your File

A second window opens asking you to name and save the file.
- In the Save As box: Type in the name of your podcast: YellowWoman
- Note: The .band is the file extention name for GarageBand files
- Click Create and this will save the file in the default GarageBand folder located in the Music folder.

Start Your Recording
You are now ready to start recording your podcast

Choose Male or Female Voice from the Tracks menu. When you click on the silhouette icon it turns blue, indicating this track is selected.

Click and release the mouse on the round red Record icon and read your script. A purple box will appear next to voice track you selected. When you are done recording click the Record icon again.

Playbar

The Playbar is the line running vertically through the Timeline, and shows the point in the project currently playing.

Record Button

To stop the Playbar, press the Spacebar on your keyboard, or Play button on the screen
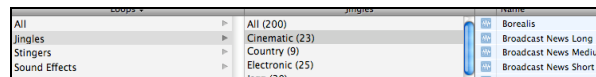

Adding Jingles, Stingers, Sound Effects
To view the Jingles, click on the Eye icon on the Toolbar. Jingles will appear in the lower window.

Choose Jingles, the style of jingle, and then the jingle title. The jingle will play.

- Clicking from one title to another will allow you to preview a variety of Jingles.
- Select the jingle you like.
- Drag the selected jingle (clicking on the title name) to the track Jingles.
- Stingers and Effects are added in the same way you added Jingles.

Add Artwork and Chapters to Your Podcast

To automatically create a maker with artwork, open the Media Browser and click the Photos button.

Drag the picture you want to the podcast track. The podcast track shows the marker region you have created. You can see how it lines up with the audio regions in your podcast.

Click the Podcast track

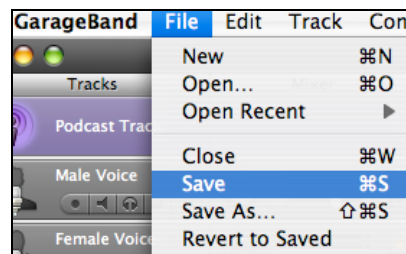

Drag Episode Artwork

Time, Artwork, Chapter

Adding a Description and Previewing Your Work
 To add a description of the episode select the Information Key on the Toolbar.

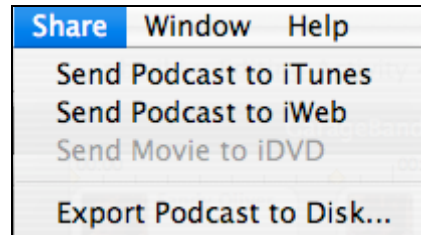

Saving
Save your file often. This saves your file as a GarageBand file. You can always edit it in this format.

Are you ready to publish?

Share your work
From the file menu choose Share and select Export Podcast to Disk

Publish your podcast.